EU URBAN AGENDA PARTNERSHIP ON INNOVATIVE AND RESPONSIBLE PUBLIC PROCUREMENT

URBAN AGENDA FOR THE EU

The Urban Agenda Partnership stems from the 'Pact of Amsterdam' of May 2016. This pact established a working method of thematic partnerships seeking to optimise the utilisation of the growth potential of cities and to address social challenges. The Partnership on Innovative and Responsible Public Procurement is one of the Urban Agenda partnerships and was formerly established in May 2017.

INNOVATIVE AND RESPONSIBLE PUBLIC PROCUREMENT

The Partnership creates opportunities for cities, regions and member states to work closely together with European institutions, educational and expert organisations. Through development of awareness raising workshops and webinars, knowledge and experience exchange, advocacy, tools and guidelines, we aim to facilitate better use of innovative and responsible public procurement to support sustainability and innovation.

BACKGROUND OF THE PARTNERSHIP

The Partnerships' primary audience are public authorities such as cities, regions and member states. By creating a network with expert and educational organisations, European Institutions, SME's and other stakeholders we create knowledge and experience exchange on public procurement as a strategic tool. Please find a specification of our Partnerships' network on the next page.
